New River Health District Continues to Offer Free H1N1 Flu Vaccine at Local Health Departments and Community-Hosted Clinics

The New River Health District (Virginia Department of Health) continues to offer H1N1 influenza vaccination at all area health departments and in numerous community locations.

“H1N1 flu shots are widely available and free at our local health departments and community-hosted clinics,” said Dr. Jody Hershey, Director of the New River Health District. “It’s not too late to be vaccinated because individual cases of the H1N1 influenza continue to occur. We are remaining vigilant and do not think people should become complacent. Vaccination is such an easy step to take, and it is the best protection against this disease that can be serious.”

The H1N1 vaccine is always available free through your local health department. During the week of March 15, the vaccine is available as follows:

During normal business hours, to all walk-in clients as well as those receiving any health department services - Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

During scheduled H1N1 clinics:

- Floyd County – Tuesday, Mar. 16, 1:30 to 5 p.m.
- Giles County – Thursday, Mar. 18, 1 to 5 p.m.
- Montgomery County – Thursday, Mar. 18, 1 to 5:00 p.m.

During regularly-scheduled WIC clinics (Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children):
